As if it takes its architectonic qualities seriously, the Inola Accent Table reads like a balanced column that has been hollowed out and fitted with a clean-lined entablature. The juxtaposition of the antique gold finish on the wrought iron frame, which brings it a hint of patina, and the deep black granite with its natural stippled patterns amps up the sophistication of the Inola. Given its size, this is a very flexible piece that will enliven any number of spots in a room.
