In our Barry Goralnick collection, the Davy Desk Lamp is an industrial chic marvel. Every design detail has been thoughtfully considered, from the lens fitted smartly into the culmination of the cage-like shade to the stacked base into which a magnetic indentation has been stamped to hold paper clips. The curve of the neck adds a graceful element to this luminary, which has been given an extra dose of sheen with the polished nickel finish. The diffuser is made of five layers of high-quality optic crystal, fused with UV technology to create a Fresnel lens. Light is refracted from the interior layers of glass and is engineered so that the light creates a distinctive glow on the polished glass edges.
