Pale blue quilted leather is a surprising choice of material with which to wrap a lamp's surface but the Chamada Table Lamp will convince you it is the right one. The columnar body swathed in leather culminates at the top and bottom with brass that we've left natural for the warmth it brings the design. When illumination wafts from beneath the barrel-shaped eggshell shantung shade, the leather glows and the metal glints to make this a wonderful choice for a space that needs a bit of lighting up.
