Taking Japanese minimalism and running with it, we created the Aberfoyle Pendant, which exudes simple sophistication. Made of brass that has been treated to a satin black finish, the interior of the darkly handsome fixture is slathered with a gold leaf finish that brings the glow emanating from it added warmth. We've affixed it to a stem instead of a chain to make certain we didn't interrupt the luminary's understated appeal. The gold fitting connecting the stem to the canopy is a lovely touch worth noting.
