Making mid-century modern statements feel like they will be just as fresh tomorrow as they were in the swinging 60s is a talent of our design team. Take our Relais Chandelier as proof, not only for the pared-down lines of the wrought iron frame and bobeches we treated to an oil-rubbed bronze finish, but also for the tall, thin frosted glass canisters that soften the flow of its illumination. The fanciful rings that dance along the bottom of the frame have been treated to an antique brass finish for a hint of contrast.
