Naming this chandelier after the god of light in Greek Mythology is a fitting tribute to the laurel leaf, which has long been associated with the deity. Our Apollo Chandelier evokes the crowns with which the god was often adorned and the tree into which Daphne morphed as she ran from him. Just as Apollo made the laurel leaves sprouting from her trunk evergreen, we've made our tribute in wrought iron immortal by treating it to contemporary gold and painted finishes. Designed by Iain Thornton, the chandelier is certified for damp locations. We also offer the Apollo in a wall sconce.
